JAY LENO

Jay Leno began his career in nightclubs and theaters working over three hundred nights a year before landing his own late night talk show (The Tonight Show). By the time he began hosting The Tonight Show he had appeared numerous times on television, acted in a few films and hit pay dirt with his late-night appearances as Johnny Carson's permanent guest host and a record number of visits to Late Night with David Letterman. Leno is not just a comic. He's a stand-up social commentator and a sarcastic re-processor of American Pop culture. When Jay takes to the road all he needs is a microphone, an audience and his broken-field run at life's end zones!
